DENVER HEALTH PRESENTS CEO AWARD TO MAXOR FOR EXCELLENCE IN PHARMACY SERVICES

Denver, Colorado – Denver Health and Hospital Authority honored Maxor National Pharmacy Services Corporation with a CEO award for bringing excellence to Denver Health pharmacy services. Patricia A. Gabow, M.D., CEO and Medical Director, presented Maxor executives Jerry Hodge, R.Ph., Kevin Jones, R.Ph., Patricia Lanius, R.Ph., Lisa Malinowski, Angela Serio, and Eric Stirm, R.Ph. with the CEO award at Denver Health's annual Day of Celebration.

Maxor has managed Denver Health's inpatient, outpatient, and correctional pharmacy operations since 2000. Dr. Gabow presented Maxor with the award for its outstanding progress in transforming an inefficient system into a nationally recognized, cost-effective, state-of-the-art, JCAHO accredited pharmacy department.

"Denver Health was pleased to have an opportunity to recognize Maxor's achievements in our organization," Dr. Gabow said. "We have enjoyed an excellent working relationship."

Angela Serio, Vice President of Operations at Maxor, said, "Receiving this award from Dr. Gabow is a tremendous honor for Maxor. We are proud to be partners with a health care institution of Denver Health's quality, mission, and caliber."

Denver Health is Colorado's largest "safety net" hospital, providing 30 % of the State's total indigent care. In 2005, Solucient ranked Denver Health as one of the Top 100 Hospitals and as one of the Top Major Teaching Hospitals in the nation.

In 2006, Modern Healthcare named Dr. Gabow as one of the healthcare industry's 50 Most Powerful Physician Executives. In 2005, the International Women's Forum presented Dr. Gabow with the Women Who Make a Difference award. Gabow was one of 10 women worldwide to receive the award.

Maxor National Pharmacy Services Corporation is a Texas-based company located in Amarillo, Texas. Maxor operates, manages, and consults inpatient, outpatient, mail order, specialty, and correctional pharmacies throughout the United States.
